Plaintiff Ariel Abittan respectfully submits this Memorandum of Law in opposition to the Individual Defendants' and Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman)'s Motion To Dismiss or in the Alternative Quash Service of Summons ("Motion" or "Mot.").¹

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff alleges that Defendants engaged in fraudulent conduct and racketeering activity to deprive him of his interest in Findora, a company he co-founded. Consistent with that alleged conduct, Defendants Chao and Ding have attempted to evade service of process and create confusion in the record. After Plaintiff served the complaint and summons at Chao's and Ding's residence, those Defendants retained counsel and filed the instant Motion under Rule 12(b)(5). Chao and Ding now suggest that they lack a connection to the home address where Plaintiff had frequently visited them. They also suggest that there is an issue with the parties in interest, asserting that Plaintiff has a "substantive confusion of identities." In making those arguments, however, Chao and Ding decline to offer their own testimony or to explicitly state that they never lived at that address.

For the reasons stated below, Plaintiff has validly served process on all Defendants. Nonetheless, to the extent the Court identifies unresolved issues of fact, Defendants should be compelled to provide testimony supporting their assertion that there is "confusion" as to the identities of the named parties and their arguments that they are not connected to the service address. Thus, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court deny the Motion in full or, alternatively, order Defendants to provide testimony at an evidentiary hearing and/or submit to jurisdictional discovery.

II. ISSUES TO BE DECIDED

1. Whether Plaintiff validly served Defendants Chao, Ding, and Temujin Labs Inc. pursuant to Rule 4?
2. If there were service defects, whether Plaintiff substantially complied with Rule 4?
3. Whether, the Court should order Defendants Chao, Ding and Temujin Labs Inc. to provide testimony at any evidentiary hearing and/or submit to jurisdictional discovery?

4. Whether, if service is quashed, Plaintiff should be permitted additional time to serve process?

III. BACKGROUND

Since filing the Complaint on December 24, 2020, Plaintiff has worked diligently to serve the summons and complaint on Defendants Temujin Labs Inc. (Delaware), Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman), Chao, and Ding. Plaintiff's process server attempted to serve Chao and Ding at 69 Isabella Avenue, Atherton, CA 94027 (the "69 Isabella Ave.") on January 17, 19, 25, 26, 27, and 28th. See Economides Decl., Exs. A, B. Chao and Ding had always represented that they resided at 69 Isabella Ave. Specifically, Abittan had stayed with Chao and Ding at that location on multiple occasions. Abittan Decl. ¶¶ 4-11. Throughout January, however, Chao and Ding successfully evaded service. Economides Decl. Exs. A, B.

On January 29, 2021, Plaintiff's process server personally served Temujin Labs Inc. (Delaware) and Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman) via the registered agent in Delaware for the entity "Temujin Labs Inc." See ECF Nos. 10, 11. On March 2, 2021, attorneys from Fenwick & West LLP appeared as counsel for those entities. ECF No. 16. Pursuant to Rule 7.1, those attorneys then filed a "Certification of Interested Persons," noting that "Temujin Labs Inc. (Delaware) is wholly owned by Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman)." ECF No. 17.

On March 18, 2021, Plaintiff's process server served three sets of the summons and complaint—one set, respectively, for Defendant Chao, Defendant, Ding, and Defendant Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman)—at 69 Isabella Ave. ECF Nos. 25, 26, 27; see also Economides Decl., Exs. C, D. A person named Patricia Bedolla received the documents. Economides Decl., Exs. C, D. On March 19, 2021, Plaintiff's process server mailed copies of the summons and complaint—for service on Chao and Ding—to the same address. ECF Nos. 28, 29, 30.

The service had the intended effect of notifying Chao and Ding of the lawsuit and prompting their retention of counsel to defend them in the litigation. On April 21, 2021, attorneys from Fenwick

1 & West represented all Defendants in entering into a scheduling stipulation. ECF No. 44.² On May 2 28, 2021, attorneys from Fenwick & West, on behalf of the “individual defendants,” filed a “Notice
 3 of Appearance of Counsel,” “Certification of Interested Entities or Persons,” and a “Consent to 4 Magistrate Judge Jurisdiction.” ECF Nos. 50, 51, 52.

5 Nonetheless, Ding, Chao, and Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman) filed the instant Motion on May 6 28, 2021. For the reasons stated below, the Motion lacks merit.

7 IV. ARGUMENT

8 A. PLAINTIFF HAS VALIDLY SERVED DEFENDANTS DING, CHAO, AND 9 TEMUJIN LABS INC. (CAYMAN)

10 1. Defendants Chao and Ding

11 “Under Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(e)(2)(B), a plaintiff may properly serve a defendant by leaving a 12 copy of the summons and the complaint with ‘at the individual’s dwelling or usual place of abode 13 with someone of suitable age and discretion who resides there[.]’” The Bank of N.Y. Mellon FKA The 14 Bank of N.Y. as Trustee for the Registered Holders of the Cwabs, Inc., Asset-Backed Certificates,
 15 Series 2005-13, v. Nev. Assoc. Servs., No. 2:16-CV-02400-MMD-VCF, 2021 WL 2418005, at *3 16 (D. Nev. June 14, 2021) (“The Court can easily conclude that [defendant’s long-term tenant] is 17 someone of “someone of suitable age and discretion” in the absence of any argument or evidence to 18 the contrary”); Lammey v. Valdry, No. 2:20-CV-10655-RGK-AS, 2021 WL 840436, at *4 (C.D.
 19 Cal. Feb. 4, 2021) (“Plaintiff has filed proof of service stating that his hired process server left the 20 summons, complaint, and other documents at Defendant Valdry’s residence with an adult woman
 21 who lived there. By contrast, Defendant Valdry has provided no evidence that he was not properly 22 served.”).

23 Additionally, “Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(e)(1) allows for service following state law
 24 for serving a summons in the state where the district court is located.” Bds. of Trs. of Sheet Metal
 25 Workers Pension Tr. of N. Cal. v. CER Mech. Corp., No. 20-CV-03462-WHO, 2021 WL 1338556,

27 ² Previously, on April 5, 2021, attorneys from Fenwick & West had represented Temujin Cayman
 28 and Temujin Delaware in signing a stipulation regarding the deadline to respond to the Complaint.
 ECF No. 31.

at *3 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 9, 2021). “California law provides that a defendant ‘may be served by leaving a copy of the summons and complaint during usual office hours in his or her office or, if no physical address is known, at his or her usual mailing address, other than a United States Postal Service post office box, with the person who is apparently in charge thereof, and by thereafter mailing a copy of the summons and complaint by first-class mail, postage prepaid to the person to be served at the place where a copy of the summons and complaint were left.’” Id. (quoting Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 415.20(a)). “When service is effected by leaving a copy of the summons and complaint at a mailing address, it shall be left with a person at least 18 years of age, who shall be informed of the contents thereof.” Id.

Regardless of the provision at issue, “[a] signed return of service constitutes prima facie evidence of valid service which can be overcome only by strong and convincing evidence.” Kinsley Tech. Co. v. Ya Ya Creations, Inc., No. 2:20-CV-04310-ODW(KSx), 2021 WL 1546955, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 20, 2021) (quoting SEC v. Internet Sols. for Bus. Inc., 509 F.3d 1161, 1166 (9th Cir. 2007)).

Under those provisions, Plaintiff properly served Chao and Ding at 69 Isabella Ave. The undisputed evidence shows that Chao and Ding resided and received mail at that address. See Abittan Decl. ¶¶ 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11. The record confirms that Patricia Bedolla, physically received the served documents and that the documents were mailed to the same address the next day. See ECF Nos. 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30; see also Economides Decl., Ex. C. If Ms. Bedolla also lived at 69 Isabella Ave., then service was sufficient under Rule 4(e)(2)(B). If Ms. Bedolla was merely in control of that residence at the time, where the record shows that Chao and Ding received mail, then service was sufficient under Rule 4(e)(1) and Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 415.20(a). Thus, Plaintiff’s proofs of service, as well as additional evidence, establish valid service under Rule 4(e)(2)(B) or Rule 4(e)(1) (incorporating Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 415.20(a)). See Piper, Inc., 2020 WL 6868831, at *4 (“Considering that California’s substitute service statute is to be liberally construed to effectuate service and uphold jurisdiction if actual notice has been received by the defendant, [plaintiff’s] efforts to personally serve [defendant] constitute reasonable diligence.”).

Furthermore, Defendants have not met their burden to overcome that showing with strong

1 and convincing evidence. Critically, neither Chao nor Ding filed a declaration or affidavit. They did
 2 not deny that they live at 69 Isabella Ave. They did not deny knowing, employing, or living with 3 Ms. Bedolla. They did not deny receiving the service papers. They did not specify where they live.

4 Instead—ignoring their burden to produce strong and convincing evidence—Defendants’
 5 counsel filed a carefully worded Motion, stating:

6 The property is apparently owned by Nessco Investments LLC and nothing
 7 suggests that either of the Individual Defendants resides at 69 Isabella Ave. Bretan
 8 Decl. ¶ 6, Ex. E. Indeed, the fact that plaintiff purports to have made three attempts 9 to serve them at that address, but never found them there, suggests otherwise. See, 10 e.g., id., Ex. J. Even if either of the Individual Defendants owned the property (as noted, they do not; nor is any connection between either of the Individual Defendants and Nessco suggested), substitute service at 69 Isabella Ave. would still not be proper absent a showing that the Individual Defendants actually reside there.

11 Mot. at 9:5 – 9:12. Although Defendants counsel submitted evidence regarding the ownership of 69
 12 Isabella Ave. and seek inferences regarding Chao’s and Ding’s residence, neither Defendant actually 13 denies living there.

14 In sum, Plaintiff has submitted proofs of service, as well as testimony that service occurred
 15 at Chao’s and Ding’s residence. In response, Chao and Ding have resorted to misdirection, without 16 providing substantive evidence that they no longer live at 69 Isabella Ave. Based on that record, the 17 Court should deny the Motion.

18 2. Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman)

19 Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman)’s challenge to service fails for two reasons. First, Plaintiff
 20 validly served Temujin Cayman via that entity’s agent and alter ego Temujin Delaware. See ECF 21 No. 13.

22 Under Rule 4(h), a plaintiff can serve a corporation “by delivering a copy of the summons 23 and of the complaint to an officer, a managing or general agent, or any other agent authorized by 24 appointment or by law to receive service of process.” Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 4(h)(1)(B). “[T]he nature 25 of the relationship between a foreign parent corporation and a domestic subsidiary can cause the 26 subsidiary to become the corporation’s agent by law for the purpose of service of process.” Papineau
 27 v. Brake Supply Co., Inc., No. 4:18-CV-00168-JHM, 2020 WL 2461890, at *2 (W.D. Ky. May 12, 28 2020); see also Rubicon Glob. Ventures, Inc. v. Chongqing Zongshen Grp. Imp./Exp. Corp., 575

1 Fed. App'x 710, 713 (9th Cir. 2014) (“[W]e find that ZSIE and Zongshen, Inc. were so closely
2 related that the latter was ZSIE's agent for service as a matter of law, notwithstanding [ZSIE's]
3 failure or refusal to appoint [Zongshen, Inc.] formally as an agent.”).

4 The current record shows no material distinctions between Temujin Delaware and Temujin
5 Cayman. As alleged by Plaintiff, Chao and Ding created those entities as part of a RICO conspiracy
6 to loot Eian and defraud Plaintiff. See Complaint ¶¶ 95-102, 171, 172, 175. The corporate records
7 from Delaware and the Caymans, as submitted by Defendants, do not establish that Temujin
8 Cayman and Temujin Delaware are even separate entities, rather than the same entity registered to 9 do business in multiple locations. The records show only that:

- 10 • An entity named “Temujin Labs Inc” was incorporated in Delaware on July 2, 2019, see ECF No. 54 at 6-7 of 47;
- 11 • An “exempt” entity named “Temujin Labs Inc” was registered in the Cayman
12 Islands on July 2, 2019, see ECF No. 54 at 9 of 47.

13 This evidence suggests that there is one Temujin Labs Inc., which was incorporated in Delaware
14 and which, on the same day, was registered to do business in the Cayman Islands. The only 15 document purporting to distinguish between the entities is a single “Certificate of Interested Entities
16 or Persons,” filed on behalf of both entities, stating that “Temujin Labs Inc. (Delaware) is wholly 17 owned by Temujin Labs Inc. (Cayman).” ECF No. 17. Thus—even if two separate entities exist, a 18 fact that is unclear—they were created on the same day by the same people for the same illegitimate
19 purpose. They are represented by the same counsel in this litigation, and they filed a joint Rule 7.1
20 certification. Additionally, they have declined to present any evidence showing different offices, 21 officers, directors, purposes, or activities.

22 Every fact in the record, therefore, shows overwhelming interchangeability giving rise to an 23 agency relationship. Accordingly, Plaintiff validly served Temujin Labs Inc. Cayman via service at 24 the registered agent in Delaware for Temujin Labs Inc. Delaware. See ECF No. 13.

25 Second, on June 16, 2021, Plaintiff successfully served Temujin Labs Inc. Cayman at its 26 address in the Cayman Islands pursuant to Article 10(a) of the Hague Convention on the Service
27 Abroad of Judicial and Extrajudicial Documents in Civil or Commercial Matters (“Hague Convention”). “[T]he United Kingdom has . . . made no objection to Article 10(a) of the Hague Convention, making service via postal channels a valid method of service in the United Kingdom and its territories, including the Cayman Islands.” Ghostbed, Inc. v. Casper Sleep, Inc., 315 F.R.D. 689, 691–92 (S.D. Fla. 2016); see also TransparentBusiness, Inc. v. Infobae, No. 3:20-CV-00582-MMD-WGC, 2020 WL 7125689, at *1 (D. Nev. Dec. 4, 2020) (“Note § 10(a) of the Hague Convention states that the Convention does not interfere with the freedom to send judicial documents, by postal channels, directly to persons abroad if the country of destination does not object. The Ninth Circuit has joined the Second Circuit in holding that the meaning of ‘send’ in Article 10(a) includes ‘serve.’” (citing Brockmeyer v. May, 383 F.3d 798, 801 (9th Cir. 2004))).
28

On June 11, 2021, Plaintiff used postal channels, pursuant to Article 10(a) of the Hague Convention, to serve Temujin Labs Inc. at its registered agent in the Cayman Islands. Declaration of Christina Larkin, ¶ 3. The documents were successfully delivered on June 16, 2021. Id. ¶ 4. Finally, any argument regarding a time limit under Rule 4(m) does not apply. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(m) (“This subdivision (m) does not apply to service in a foreign country under Rule 4(f), 4(h)(2), or 4(j)(1)[.]”).

B. EVEN IF THERE WERE SERVICE DEFECTS, PLAINTIFF HAS SUBSTANTIALLY COMPLIED WITH RULE 4

“As a general principle, Rule 4 is a flexible rule that should be liberally construed, and substantial compliance with the service requirements of Rule 4 is sufficient so long as the opposing party receives sufficient notice.” Heuvel v. Expedia Travel, No. 2:16-CV-00567-JAM-AC, 2017 WL 2403568, at *1–*2 (E.D. Cal. June 2, 2017), report and recommendation adopted sub nom. Van Den Heuvel v. Expedia Travel, No. 2:16-CV-0567 JAM AC(PS), 2017 WL 3333941 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 4, 2017). Accordingly, courts will deny Rule 12(b)(5) motions to dismiss where plaintiffs “have substantially complied with service of process.” Medimpact Healthcare Sys., Inc. v. IQVIA Holdings Inc., No. 19CV1865-GPC(LL), 2020 WL 1433327, at *15 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 24, 2020). “Substantial compliance with service of process despite deficiencies requires that: ‘(a) the party that had to be served personally received actual notice, (b) the defendant would suffer no prejudice from

1 the defect in service, (c) there is a justifiable excuse for the failure to serve properly, and (d) the 2 plaintiff would be severely prejudiced if his complaint were dismissed.” Id. at *15.

3 None of those four factors is in legitimate dispute. First, Defendants Chao, Ding, and 4 Temujin Labs Inc. Caymans have notice. They have retained sophisticated counsel and filed
 5 documents with the Court. See ECF Nos. 44, 50, 51, 52.

6 Second, Defendants cannot identify any prejudice. They have notice. They have counsel.
 7 They are litigating. Discovery has not commenced. Tacitly recognizing those realities, Defendants
 8 do not identify any prejudice.

9 Third, to the extent any service was improper, there is a justifiable excuse. After 10 commencing this suit on December 24, 2020, Plaintiff repeatedly attempted service at the home (69 11 Isabella Ave.) where he had visited and stayed with Chao and Ding numerous times throughout the 12 parties’ business relationship. See Abittan Decl. ¶ 5. Plaintiff organized service attempts at that 13 address on January 17, 19, 25, 26, 27, and 28th. See Economides Decl., Exs. A, B. Plaintiff 14 successfully served the papers at 69 Isabella Ave. on March 18, 2021, and mailed the papers to the 15 same address the next day. ECF Nos. 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30; Economides Decl. Exs. C, D.

16 If service was defective—notwithstanding the arguments, supra—Defendants’ conduct
 17 caused the defects. In addition to avoiding Plaintiffs’ process server, Chao and Ding have obfuscated
 18 the public records of their identities and assets. Plaintiff’s investigation of public records did not 19 yield alternate addresses for Chao and Ding. Despite inviting Plaintiff to their home at 69 Isabella
 20 Ave. multiple times, Chao and Ding have now suggested in this litigation that they have no
 21 connection to the property or to the entity that publicly owns the property. See Mot. at 9 (“The 22 property is apparently owned by Nessco Investments LLC Even if either of the Individual 23 Defendants owned the property (as noted, they do not; nor is any connection between either of the 24 Individual Defendants and Nessco suggested), substitute service at 69 Isabella Ave. would still not 25 be proper absent a showing that the Individual Defendants actually reside there.”).³

26 Simply put, Plaintiff did not sleep on his rights or ignore his service obligations. Rather, he

27
 28 ³ As to Temujin Labs Inc., moreover, Plaintiff promptly served the U.S. address for what appear to be indistinguishable entities.

1 has expended significant time and money to validly serve Defendants, who, in turn, have done
 2 everything in their power to prevent service. Consequently, there is a justifiable excuse for any 3 remaining defects in service. See ECF No. 31.

4 Finally, Plaintiff would be severely prejudiced if the Complaint were dismissed. He has 5 already briefed a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss filed by Temujin Labs Inc. Delaware. See ECF
 6 No. 36. He has also undertaken substantial efforts to serve process on the remaining Defendants.
 7 Meanwhile, he has been deprived of his rightful interest in the ongoing operations and profits from 8 Findora. A dismissal would force Plaintiff to re-file, incur additional expenses, and encounter further 9 delays in redressing his rights. Thus, the prejudice would be severe.

10 In sum, if Plaintiff has not complied with Rule 4, then he has substantially complied. Hence, 11 Defendants Motion should be denied in full.

12 C. PLAINTIFF REQUESTS AN EVIDENTIARY HEARING WITH TESTIMONY OR 13 JURISDICTIONAL DISCOVERY

14 As explained above, Plaintiff served the Defendants in compliance with, or substantial
 15 compliance with, Rule 4. To the extent the Court finds that factual issues remain, however, Plaintiff 16 is entitled to an evidentiary hearing and/or jurisdictional discovery.

17 In the Ninth Circuit, an evidentiary hearing may be required to resolve a motion under Rule
 18 12(b)(5) challenging the sufficiency of service. See, e.g., Piper, Inc. v. Pavlyukovskyy, No. 20-CV-19 03663-WHO, 2020 WL 6868831, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 23, 2020) (“Unless there is a defect in the 20 proofs of service, a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(5) requires defendant to produce affidavits, 21 discovery materials, or other admissible evidence establishing the lack of proper service. In 22 response, the plaintiff must provide evidence showing that the service was proper, or creating an 23 issue of fact requiring an evidentiary hearing to resolve.”); DePalmer v. Jian Zhu, No. C19-
 24 1449JLR, 2020 WL 7059233, at *2 (W.D. Wash. Dec. 2, 2020) (same); Langer v. Beverly Hills

 5 GW(SKx), 2018 WL 4792907, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Feb. 14, 2018) (“[T]he Court would allow Plaintiff
 6 and/or Defendant (if either makes a timely request) to immediately conduct limited discovery in 7 regards to the upcoming motion to dismiss, but only in regards to the service of process issue.”).

8 Plaintiff has sued Lily Chao and Damien Ding, a married couple with whom Plaintiff was 9 business partners for years. Plaintiff repeatedly visited and stayed overnight with Chao and Ding at 10 their house located at 69 Isabella Avenue, Atherton, CA 94027, and he did so as late as July 2019.
 11 Abittan Decl. ¶¶ 4, 5. While staying at the house, Plaintiff even observed Chao’s and Ding’s 12 children, who attended school approximately one mile away. Abittan Decl. ¶ 6.

13 However, Defendants have now raised service of process challenges that trigger questions
 14 as to their identities. Sophisticated counsel from Fenwick & West have appeared on behalf of the 15 “Individual Defendants,” stating that “Plaintiff’s substantive confusion of identities reflected in 16 the Complaint is not addressed in this motion, which solely concerns ineffective service.” Mot.
 17 at 3 n.4. Counsel further represented that:

- 18 • It’s a “demonstrably false assumption that the two Individual Defendants are 19 married (they are not), and therefore must live together (they do not)” (Mot. at 2:6 – 20 2:7);
- 21 • 69 Isabella Ave. “is apparently owned by Nessco Investments LLC and nothing 22 suggests that either of the Individual Defendants resides at 69 Isabella Ave” (Mot.
 at 9:5 – 9:7);
- 23 • No “connection between either of the Individual Defendants and Nessco [is] 24 suggested” by the record (Mot. at 9:10).

25 The Motion’s primary basis appears to be that the movants lack any current or past connection to 26 the 69 Isabella Ave. address where Plaintiff repeatedly stayed with his previous business partners
 27 and where Plaintiff served the complaint and summons.

28 Those averments—suggesting that the individuals filing the Motion are not the individuals who partnered with Plaintiff to create Findora—create critical issues of fact. If the movants have 1 never lived at 69 Isabella Ave., they should testify to that fact. If they previously lived there but 2 moved before process was served, they should testify to those facts. If the movants are somehow

3 not Lily Chao and Damien Ding—such that Plaintiff has a “substantive confusion of identities”
4 (Mot. at 3 n.4)—they should testify to those facts. Instead, they filed a motion that suggests, without 5 support, that there are mistaken identities vis-à-vis the Complaint and/or service of the Complaint.

6 Causing additional ambiguity, Fenwick & West’s filings with the Court do not specify the 7 names of the “individual defendants” who are making certifications and who are represented by 8 counsel. See ECF No. 50 (notice of appearance “as counsel for the individual defendants,” without 9 ever naming or defining “individual defendants,” including in the signature block); ECF No. 51 10 (certification from “the individual defendants, by and through counsel” without ever naming or 11 defining “individual defendants,” including in the signature block); ECF No. 52 (consent to 12 magistrate judge jurisdiction by the “individual defendants,” without ever naming or defining 13 “individual defendants,” including in the signature block). Throughout the Motion, moreover, the 14 moving parties describe themselves as “the two individual defendants,” without using names. See 15 ECF No. 53 at 1:6 – 1:8. Indeed, the Motion omits references to Ding or Chao, except when quoting 16 from Plaintiff’s filings or correspondence.

17 In most circumstances, the undefined use of the term “individual defendants”—in lieu of the 18 defendants’ names—would be innocuous. Here, however, the Motion states that Plaintiff has 19 “substantive confusion of identities” as to the defendants, while the filings have a pattern of omitting 20 those defendant’s names.

21 These collective circumstances justify an evidentiary hearing or jurisdictional discovery.
22 Plaintiff respectfully requests an order requiring the “individual defendants” and Temujin Labs Inc.
23 to appear at an evidentiary hearing for direct and cross examination on the topics of the correct
24 parties in interest and service of process on those parties. Alternatively, those parties should 25 immediately sit for depositions on those topics. If, as Defendants state, there is “substantive 26 confusion of identities,” all parties have an incentive to resolve the confusion as soon as possible.
27 Otherwise, the parties, their counsel, and the Court will waste time and resources.

28 Consequently, unless the Motion is denied in full and Defendants confirm that there are no

1 outstanding issues as to the parties in interest, Plaintiff is entitled to cross examine Defendants at 2 an evidentiary hearing or obtain immediate jurisdictional discovery.

4 V. CONCLUSION

5 For the reasons above, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court deny the Motion or,
6 alternatively, order an evidentiary hearing and/or jurisdictional discovery. If the Court does grant
7 the Motion, Plaintiff respectfully requests additional time to effectuate service.⁴
